Development Resource and Training Centre BHUBANESWAR

Development Resource and Training Centre (DRTC), a centre for participatory training and reflection of CYSD (Center for Youth and Social Development), was established in 1989. Since its inception, DRTC has been constantly striving to strengthen the process of 'active learning' in the field of social development, building the capacities of organizations and individuals engaged in different facets of development.

KEY OBJECTIVES

DRTC follows the pedagogical processes of learning, sharing, reflective thinking, problem solving etc. in all its trainings programmes. It has set its own bar of quality standards in providing training in the areas of Sustainable Rural Livelihoods, Inclusive & Participatory Governance, Disaster Risk Reduction & Management, Climate Change Adaption, Education, Health, Gender, etc. The key objectives of the centre are to:

- Create a critical mass of social mobilizers at the community level for facilitating community-led social watch processes.
- Enhance the capacities of people's organizations, NGOs and CSOs through need-based capacity building programmes.
- Establish resource bases of learning in the areas of Rural Livelihoods, Participatory Governance, Food Security, Maternal & Child Health, Education, Climate Change & Disaster Management, Gender etc. through citizen-led accountability practices and civil society building.

- Knowledge is power, but has little value unless it can be easily accessed and put into practice

- A Great place to learn

DRTC CAMPUS

In keeping with the objectives, the DRTC campus has been well designed imaginatively on 51,000 Sqft area to create the right ambience for activities like group interaction, discussion, sharing of ideas, reflective thinking, problem solving and searching for alternatives, etc. The centre has the required infrastructure, human resources and state-of-the-art technology to organize trainings, workshops and to carry out research studies. The space within DRTC campus is meant for accommodating small and large gatherings - both outdoors and indoors; a congenial place for people to meet, discuss and interact.

INFRASTRUCTURE

The amenities at DRTC include well furnished training/conference halls, a medium size auditorium, a library, an MIS unit, a dining hall, accommodation for as many as 50 participants (both participants & resource persons) - all at an extremely affordable price. The conference/training halls have state-of-the-art facilities to suite to the need of different types of organizations and institutions. Learning takes place effortlessly against the idyllic backdrop of beautifully landscaped lush garden.
